Cleveland Teaching Fellowship
2023-2024

The Cleveland Teaching Fellowship (CTF) is a partnership between the Cleveland Metropolitan School District (CMSD), Cleveland State University, and the Cleveland Foundation. This grant program engages 30-35 highly qualified teacher candidates in their PAID practicum and student teaching experiences in select CMSD buildings. With a national teacher shortage, CTF is creating a diverse pipeline of strong teacher candidates committed to urban education. Funding is pending annual approval.*

Qualifications:

- Declared undergraduate, post-baccalaureate, or graduate major/license within the Levin College of Public Affairs and Education in Special Education (Mild/Moderate, Moderate/Intensive, ECIS), Middle Childhood Education, Early Childhood Education, Adolescent Young Adult (Mathematics, Science, Language Arts, Social Studies), World Language (French, Mandarin, Spanish), Music, or Speech Language Pathology
- Meet all academic and non-academic requirements necessary for Fall 2023 practicum experience (ATI, Internship I, etc.) and/or Spring 2024 student teaching (ATII, Internship II, etc.); including but not limited to GPA requirements, Taskstream, edTPA, FBI/BCI, disposition, etc.
- US citizen or permanent resident
- Commitment to urban education
- Good academic standing

2023-2024 Fellows will:

- Commit to one academic year in the Cleveland Metropolitan School District. Placements may be year-long or split between two schools, depending on licensure requirements. These experiences includes 180 hours in Fall and 450 hours in Spring and count towards their required field hours (not above and beyond).
- Participate in professional development sessions and program meetings
- Create deeper relationships with students, teachers, and administration beyond traditional experiences
 - Be involved outside of the classroom, including building PD sessions, extracurricular activities, student groups, etc.
- Participate in Shadow Days in and outside districts
- Receive up to $6,300 over the academic year, potentially eliminating need for outside employment
