

Ready For 100 Campaign Intern

Climate change is a rapidly growing threat to our communities, public health, environment, and the economy. The need for strong clean energy policies is becoming one of the most important issues in today's society. Dirty energy companies continue to attack clean energy businesses, and even science itself. It is the citizens of Cleveland who have the power to demand policies needed for a clean energy economy, and bring home the solutions needed to solve the climate crisis.

The Ohio Sierra Club's Ready For 100 Campaign is seeking outgoing, dynamic, and diverse individuals to input data, conduct outreach, conduct social media and organize events in the Cleveland area to reach the goal of becoming 100% clean energy by the year 2050.

Example activities may include:

- Organizing events such as movie screenings
- Generating a visible presence in diverse communities with flyers, posters, etc
- Petitioning and tabling at community events to identify supporters
- Meeting with community leaders and other potential allies

This unique experience will develop useful professional skills, specifically in these areas:

- Grassroots organizing and community leadership
- Campaign building and strategy development
- Environmental policy
- Professionalism and interpersonal skills

No experience required. Internships typically qualify for college credit. Some stipends are available.

Applications are being accepted immediately.
